SAD SIGHT .- On Sunday we observed eight or ten parties of emigrants moving from the "abomination of dissolution" in Southern Kentucky. Most of them consisted of old nen, women and children. Their teams were mostly poor and jaded, and everything about them betokened sadness and wretchedness. A woman with her children, walking along before a remable ox team that an old man was eavoring to make progress by the most exsting efforts, told us that they were from Pulaski county, driven away from want-that they must leave or starve. On making a slight contribution for their relief, the children eagerly asked to see it, as though they had never seen a greenback before. Daily, and in many cases hourly, may similar moving parties be seen on all the great thoroughfares

It is now a serious question for both State and national philanthropists and statesmen hether something may not be done to preat some of this misery and consequent emation of the Union people from our State. The State or national authorities should at once provide instant relief to these people, who are suffering, not from any fault of their own, but by the remissness of the authorities in not protecting them from rebel invaders.

These, unfortunately, are white people. If they were negroes, they would be invited into the lines of the army and provided for, according to the programme of General Thomas. These white men are to be driven off, but take care of the negro! We may add that Pulaski has been one of the most loyal counties, and has sent more soldiers into the Federal service than any other county, we believe.

ically certain that the Union can never be restored under the present policy, every hour which continues it is injurious.

When it is so clear that such a policy canno restore the Union, but that every day it continues is dangerous, what wisdom, what statesmanship is there in furnishing the means to continue it when it is clearly in our power, by annexing the condition of supplies, that it shall be changed?

It is clear as noon that, for the restoration of the Union as it was-the object that all hold dearest, and which governs us now as always-every citizen of Kentucky should unflinchingly do his part to stop this fatal, this destructive war policy. He who votes money to carry it out votes so much to preveut a restoration of the Union. Let us act upon this principle, and we yet may hope for future which otherwise is dark and fore-

We can refuse to give money by a plain constitutional act, when we know that money is to be used for an unconstitutional and ruinous purpose. The oath of a Congress requires that at least. LAKE PROVIDENCE, LA., April 10.

General McPherson addressed the soldiers first, anticipating the remarks of General Thomas. At the conclusion of his speech, the Adjutant-General said:

"Fellow-Soldiers: Your Commanding General has so fully stated the object of my mission that it is almost unnecessary for me to say anything to you in reference to it. Still, as I came here with full authority from the President of the United States to announce the policy which, after mature deliberation, has been determined upon by the wisdom of the nation, it is my duty to make known to you the nature of that policy. It is a source of pride and gratification to me to come before you this day, knowing, as I do full well, what you have done on the field of battle—knowing as I do, your glorious achievements there. as I do, your glorious achievements then No soldier can come before soldiers of tri valor without having the deepest emotions of his soul stirred within him. You know full well, for you have been over this country—you know better than I do—that the rebels have sent into the field all their available fighting men—every man capable of bearing arms against us, and have kept their slaves at home to raise the means of subsistence for this army. This, fellow-soldiers, is the determined policy of the Administration. You all know that when the President of the United States (though he is said to be slow in coming to a determination) ence puts his foot down it is there, and he is not going to take it up. He has put his foot down, and I am here to give may weight and influence to see that he does not raise his foot."

We call attention to the third resolution of the Union men in Carlisle, Nicholas county, in this State. They will put down the denounced? Instead of this having been done, they are to-day, in this country, received as the expression of Catholic opinion on the subject. It is a mortifying fact that a priest, and one of this venerable Prelate's own countrymen, should be found, so long after his death, to cast opproblum on his memory.

Aside from the bad taste, which is wretched in the extreme, of this comparison, the editor does positive injusti the entire body of Catholics in the Sou the entire body of Catholics in the Southern States, as well as to the general religious sentiment of those who are not Catholice. He uses for argument what is the result of mere accident. The tide of immigration has poured into the North, and the great body of those who are boasted of in the Telegraph as builders of "churches, schoolhouses and orphan asylums," is composed of this element. It may be true that the existence of slavery as a domestic institution, in a certain locality, operates to prevent any great influx of immigrants into that locality, but it is not at all accrtain, were the case reversed, that those immigrants would be thereby made the worse morally, socially or religiously.

The number of barges must have been four containing fully three hundred tuns of hay-all of which, so far as we could learn, belonged to the government. How the fire originated we could not learn. The loss cannot be less than exteen thousand dollars.

WHY IS CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE POPULAR? Read the universal Answer to this Question. BECAUSE

It imparts a nat ral black or brown. It does not crisp or burn the hair. It does not soil the fairest skin.
It is applied in ten minutes, THEREFORE The Man of Taste approves it.

Those who va'ue Silken Hair use it.

The Ladies everywhere prefer it.

Those to whom time is valuable patronize it.

Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, 6 Astor Hou New York. Sold everywhere, and applied by all Hair Price $1, $1 50 and $3 per box, according to size. Cristadoro's Hair Preservative.

New York, April 20. The Philadelphia Enquirer publishes an account of the late expedition from the army of General Hooker. Its letter is dated near Freeman's Ford beyond Bealeton, 16th, Monday morning early. The expedition under Major General Stoneman, consisting of cavalry, infantry and artillery left our old encampment. One portion cavalry alone proceeded to Bris. fantry and artillery left our old encampment. One portion cavalry alone proceeded to Bristerburg, and there encamped. Another likewise cavalry bivouacked at Elk run. Another portion of cavalry, with a bettery, encamped at Morrisville. A fourth accompanied by a brigade of infantry and two batteries of artillery, remained for the night at Grove church. Before daylight, that portion encamped at Bristenburg sent two squadrons, the Eighth ristenburg sent two squadrons, the Eighth linois and the Ninth New York, under Capt. ownsworth, with instructions to proceed to strenton, thence to Sulphur Springs, and here await orders. The remainder of this force was ordered to proceed to Liberty.

The equadron sent towards Warrenton came upon several detached bodies of partizan cavalry, to each of which they gave chase and captured some and wounded others. Upon reaching the springs they forded the river and cominued down on the opposite bank as far as Freeman's Landing, where the roads became impassable and they were obliged to return to a freeding Landing, where the roads became mpassable and they were obliged to return to be point at which they crossed. The division which remained at Eik run left there, and better daylight the same morning they proceed to Bealcton, on the railroad leading to Goronsville. This division is now lying in the roads near this point. The division remaining near Morrisville moved down to Kelly's was discovered the first organ. Here was discovered the first orga Proparations were at once made to dislodge tem, but after throwing a shell or two the bels retired, leaving the ford in our possession.

A portion of this force was then sent up the river to Rappahannock Bridge, with instructions to hold it, and prevent its spollation. All has been done agreeably to directions.

They now hold one side of Kelly's Ford, and are strong enough is position at the bridge to prevent its destruction.

The remaining division, on leaving their encomponent at Grove Church, traveled on to the junction of Eastham's and Hedgeman's creeks, and from there to Liberty, where they now are.

These two met with trifling opposition, and -The National Intelligencer states that the removal of the Winnebago and Sloux tribes of Indians will be commenced immediately, under the superintendence of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. They will be removed from Fort Snelling by river to a tract of land near Fort Randall, on the Upper Missouri, several tary authorities.

A number of leading Democrats from Brown hundred miles distant from any considerable white settlements. The government will furnish them with agricultural implements in Sirup at 75c. their new homes. Getting rid of the Indians will be a great relief to Minnesota, which suffered fearfully from savage outrages last year.

-An effort is being made to secure the removal of Com. Dupont, who commanded the fleet in the late Charleston fight. There is said to be considerable dissatisfaction both among the land and naval forces. Gen. Seymour, of Gen. Hunter's staff, has advised the removal of Dupont; and it is now said that orders were issued from the department at Washington countermanding the order of attack, but which reached the scene of action too late. It was partly in obedience to this order that he refused to renew the attack. The report that our Charleston fleet had gone South to join Farragut is doubted, and we presume that it is not true.

-The report, already published, that Gen. Stoneman had captured Gordonsville, Virginia, has not been confirmed at Washington, and it is thought now to be without foundation.

-A London correspondent of the Philadelphia Bulletin, writing on the 1st inst., says: 'I may let out a secret which can do no harm, and which will be known at any rate on this side before you print this letter: the ship Nepune sails from Liverpool for New York on the 14th inst., with eight hundred emigrants aboard, of whom several hundred will enlist in the Federal army. (From the Nashville Union, 19th inst. We published yesterday the following order of General Bate, who is well known in this community, having been attorney-general for this judicial circuit, driving a worthy Union hady from her home. Her name, and the name of her husband, were left blank. We republish it this morning, giving the names. The victim of this cruel order, Mrs. H. C. Blanchott, is at present in Nashville. Her residence is Jasper, in Marion county. Being unable to procure transportation, she was compelled to walk the whole distance from Jasper to Murfreesboro, carrying an infant in her arms. She has four more children whom it was necessary for her to leave behind. This heroic woman expected to find her husband in this place, but, on her arrival, learned that he had gone to Kentucky. We hope our cotemporaries in that State will republish this notice. By doing so, they may be instrumental in relieving her of great distress of mind: A Union Lady driven from her Home.

EXTRACT.
HEADQUARTERS DISTRICT OF TENNESSEE, Chattanooga, February 8, 1863. Special Orders No. 20.

H.—Mrs. Blanchett, residing in Marion county, Tennessee, whose husband, H. G. Blanchett, voluntarily accompanied the Federal army in the retreat from said county, herself guilty of practices disloyal to the Confederate Government, is hereby ordered, in accordance with lutimations received from the headquarters of the army of Tennessee, to leave the Confederate lines within ten days after the receipt of this order, and not return on pain of being considered an alien enemy.

By order of Brig. Gen'l BATE.

Jos. B. Cumming, A. A. General.

Indorsed—The within order was delivered to Mrs. Blanchett, the wife of H. G. Blanchett, on the 16th day of February, 1863, by me.

Latest Foreign Intelligence. By the steamship Arabia, which left Queenstown on the 5th inst., we have the latest intelligence from Europe: The rebel cotton loan sustained a very heavy collapse in England on the 2d, in consequence of the suspension of J. B. Spence, of Liver-pool. It was thought that Mr. Spence was the financial agent of Jeff, Davis, and the loan was consequently quoted at from one and a half to two and a half discount. It was afterwards found that Mr. Spence was not the agent of the Confederate treasury, but the stock continued to decline notwithstanding, and was at two and a quarter and two and three-fourths discount on the 4th inst.

The English Government had announced to the owners of the steamer Magicienne her release from the Union arrest, stating that Lord Lyons would demand full compensation for the parties interested from the Government in Washington.

The particulars of the destruction of the American vessels Star of Peace and Alhambry, by the Alabama, had been published. They were both burned at sea.

The London Times and London News express fear of American retaliation against England for permitting the fitting out of rebell privateers in her ports. The London Times hopes good for the Union from the formation of loyal league associations at the North.

The revolution in Poland was gaining fresh spirit and extending. Laugiewicz has been conveyed from Cascow to Moravia. In Swato and other districts the nobility, middle classes and peasants had risen en masse against Russis. The lasargents had addressed a manifesto to the people, which occupies seven columns of the London journals. A Circassian chief had landed in Courland with a well-appoint force, to aid the revolutionists. Major General Rosecrans.

Major General Rosecrans. The Murfreesboro correspondent of the

New York Tribune gives a graphic description of that gallant and distinguished officer, Major General Rosecrans, as follows:

Of course I was interested in the looks and bearing of our only General who has actually demonstrated beyond cavil his capacity to handle a great array in the field; to bring victory on of disaster. Gen. Rosecrans is an erect, solid man of one hundred and seventy-five pounds weight, whose forty-three years sit lightly on his face and frame. He has a clear mild blue, say which lights up under clear, mild blue eye, which lights up under excitement until it can flash fire, an intensi-fed Roman, nose, high cheek-blues, ruca, dark brown moustache and whiskers, undark brown moustache and whiskers, untouched by the razor; hair a shade or two lighter, with a few threads of sliver, and growing thin oa the edges of the high, full, but not broad forchead. In conversation, his face is libomined by a peculiarly winning stalle, and an eye sniling with mirth. As Hamiet would take the ghost's word for a thousands pounds, so you would trost that face, in a stranger, as thoroughly true, full of character and reserved power. His talk is like it—direct, frank, overflowing with humor or strong in emphasis.

It is gratifying to be told by those who know, that Gen. Resecrans is not always politics, that he displays rugged characteristics—weak points and strong points. The smooth headed marvels of propriety, who never say a foolish thing and never do a wise one, who are incapable of enthusiasm and too stupid to make a trivial mistake, may be brilliant marthous; but they are not the stuff of which nature makes her great generals.

of which nature makes her great generals.

AFFAIRS IN NORTHEAST AREANSAS,-The following is from the correspondence of the St. Joseph Herald:

The inhabitants of this region of country, Northeart Arkansas, have suffered severely from the ravages of a contest that has for two years made this its playground. The two hostile armies have for that length of time occupied the country, to the utter detriment of all faw and good order. When the question of secession was first placed before the people, I am informed that professed Union men were elected by overwhelming majorities; but they, like numbers in my own State, proved false to the wishes of their constituents, and the State like numbers in my own State, proved false to the wishes of their constituents, and the State was declared dissolved from the Federal Union. The country was then occupied by the mercenary Texans and Indians, led by the blood-thirsty McCulloch, who gained such a world-wide reputation as a ruffian and a villain. The able men were all compelled by actual force to join the ranks of this desperado, and from that of the peeple have gradually given way to the fatal heresy, until now there are but few Union men. Numbers of deserted so diers from Hindman's defunct army have, during the past man's defunct army have, during the pass winter, infested the wild woods and rocky bills of which Arkansas is composed, harass ang the outskirts of our army. But they have in my opinion, found it an unprofitable em-ployment. Scarcely a day passes but that we hear of some bushwhacker having been sent to his long home. We have adopted, in a measure, the policy of General Loan—where-ever we find bushwhackers we kill them, and wherever they lodge or make their haunts we leave the place in ashes.
